Short Description

Black Tea

Description

Huckleberries have an almost mythical quality here in the Northwest. Plants will only grow wild, so these small red and purple berries must be harvested by hand in the sup-alpine forests where they grow. This blend of huckleberry flavor and black tea makes a subtly sweet and very fragrant cup of tea that is sure to please devoted fans and newcomers alike.

Steep 1 teaspoon per 8oz of boiling water for 3-5 minutes.
